1856 Jul 09 DOCUMENT: Agent for James Morrison & Co., in Auckland

The Master: J. D. Ormond of Wallingford – Chapter 5 Emigration p27

Geordie Richardson left England on 23 May 1857. Like his sister [Hannah] he, too, kept a journal during the voyage, but this is an unrevealing document. In it he fails to disclose the reason for his emigration and makes no mention of his early life. It is only from brief references in his sister's journal that we know he took a course in accountancy before going to London to join a shipping firm, John Morrison & Coy, which organised transport and emigration to New Zealand. So we must presume that Geordie was either sent by the firm or that tales of the opportunities available in the new world fired him to leave the old land. On the other hand, from what is learned subsequently of Geordie and his disreputable habits, his departure may have been a flight. But whatever the cause he sailed for New Zealand with Captain Morrison on the 'Southern Cross'. Geordie and Morrison, however, proved incompatible. "He is a confirmed egoist and dislikes me because I have shown my contempt for his style of walking." Thus Geordie explained their breach in his journal. Therefore it was hardly surprising that near the end of the voyage Morrison announced he would remain only a few days in Wellington and then "leave me to fend for myself". But Geordie was not dependent on Morrison. He was already preparing to establish himself as a trader.

25 May 1857: Passengers in poop cabin are two brothers Baldwin, a Miss Moodie going out to be married and Mrs Bateman occupying one cabin. Mr and Mrs Martelli - Irish - the former an exceedingly nice and sensible gentleman - Morrison (when he comes) & myself who occupy a side cabin conjointly with the experienced surgeon. There are also Captain Thomas and his wife who at present are in the 2nd cabin.

29 May 1857 2nd cabin passengers (10): Four scotchmen - Henderson, wife & family of six fine children from John O'Groats; McIlraith & wife from Ayrshire; Reeve a shephard from Moffat aged 25, unmarried; Connal from Kelson a young fellow.

New Zealand Spectator & Cook's Strait Guardian 23 Sep 1857

The ship 'Southern Cross', 1000 tons, Captain Charlton, arrived on Monday from London. She has had rather a long passage, having left Deal May 25 and experienced chiefly calms or light weather during the voyage. Ten days ago she was off Cape Terawite but was driven north of New Plymouth by a south easterly gale. The 'Southern Cross' has fifteen cabin passengers and fifty four immigrants under contract to the Provincial Government and several assisted immigrants for Otago brought out under an arrangement with the Government of the Province. On the way out there were two deaths, children under 12 months and one birth and we understand the passengers express themselves highly satisfied and speak in high terms of the arrangements and the treatment they experienced. The 'Southern Cross' is the first of a new line of vessels laid on to this colony by Messrs J. Morrison & Co. of London and among the passengers is Mr J. Morrison, a partner of that firm who has come out with the intention of visiting the different Provinces of New Zealand in order to acquire such local information as will enable them to carry on the undertaking with vigour and success in connection with Messrs Stuart, Kinross & Co. of this place. The next vessel of this line is the 'Gleaner' which was to leave London about the end of July with emigrants, chiefly Scotch, to complete the contract entered into with the Provincial Government. Messrs Morrison & Co.'s line - 'Gleaner', 800 tons, Wells, for Wellington and Canterbury to sail July 20.

Shipping Intelligence - Arrivals

Sep 21 Ship 'Southern Cross', 650 tons, Charlton from London. Passengers: Mr & Mrs Martella, Master Martella, Mr Richardson, Captain and Mrs Thomas, Miss Jessie Moodie, Mr J. H. Baldwin, Miss Bateman, Mr G. Charlton, Mr Morrison, Dr Owen Daviet, 10 second class passengers and 62 assisted immigrants.

Wellington Independent 30 Sep 1857 Dinner to Captain Charlton

A dinner was given on Thursday evening last, at Swinbourne's Hotel by the Cabin Passengers of the 'Southern Cross', to Capt. Charlton, her worthy Commander – Horatio de Courcy Martelli, Esq., presided on the occasion, Mr John Morrison, the Charterer of the ship acting as Vice. After dinner and the usual toasts had been given and responded to, the Chairman rose to propose the toast of the evening, the health and prosperity of Capt. Charlton, which he did in most appropriate terms, dwelling upon the kindness and attention of Capt. Charlton to all classes of passengers during the voyage. Before sitting down he presented the Captain with a memorial signed by the Chief Cabin Passengers and couched in the following terms:- "We, the undersigned, Passengers on board the 'Southern Cross', from London to this Port feel anxious before separating, to tender our warmest thanks for the urbanity and attention we have uniformly received during our voyage at the hands of yourself and your worthy Chief Officer, Mr Mouraylion, and beg that our sense of your kindness to us may be recorded. With every wish for the future welfare of yourself and Mr Mouraylion, and the good ship 'Southern Cross', we beg to subscribe ourselves, Yours very faithfully, (signed by) 11 cabin passengers." Captain Charlton responded in a suitable and impressive speech, in which he congratulated the colony upon an accession of labor as well as capital, both of which sources of wealth he affirmed had been to no small extent augmented by this trip of the 'Southern Cross'. He next proposed the health of Mr Morrison and success to the new Line of John Morrison & Co. Respecting the accommodations of the 'Southern Cross', he said – "Although I myself superintended her building, I cannot claim any credit for her conveniences, having copied mostly from the model of Capt. Freeman's outfit of the 'Caroline Coventry' of 1300 tons register, which was fitted in a very superior style, and the 'Southern Cross' although half her size, has the same number of hatches and scuttles and as large. This is now her second voyage to New Zealand and it affords me great pleasure to say that we had only two deaths in the two voyages, and in the first there was not a single case of sickness. Mr Morrison replied, and took the opportunity of congratulating those who had determined to adopt New Zealand as their home, remarking that with such a government as it enjoyed, determined and willing to develop its resources, and encourage immigration, New Zealand promised soon to become the most valuable of Great Britain's possessions in the South Seas. A few more toasts were given and heartily responded to, and the remainder of the evening passed off in the most agreeable manner possible.

Letter written at Auckland by John Morrison on 28 Jun 1858 to the Colonial Secretary

Sir, I beg leave to draw the attention of the General Government of New Zealand to the want existing in England of obtaining information respecting the Colony. In London there is no place where the Public can procure such in Detail or Examine for themselves the Government Official Regulations of the Provinces, what information is open to them can only be procured at different places, and is frequently circulated by individuals interested only in one or other of the Settlements; this serious inconvenience is no less detrimental to the interests of the Colony as it is to many who seek to make New Zealand their home, for the conflicting opinions expressed tend only to unsettle and discourage enquirers, practical experience enables me to bear strong testimony to this existing drawback, that I beg respectfully to submit for the consideration of the General Government the proposal to establish in London, a General Government Agency, where at one office information can be obtained for the whole of New Zealand, and the Maps and Official documents filed and Rept.. for general information. Having undertaken the voyage to New Zealand with the sole object of obtaining that information respecting the Colony, which cannot at present be got in England, and having personally visited every province and every Port and Township of importance from Jacobs River to Auckland in the course of which I have ridden 1500 miles through different parts of the Colony, I beg respectfully to tender my service to the General Government to act in the capacity of Agent for New Zealand in London. In discharging the duties of that office, while I would be able to give effect to such orders and suggestions as might from time to time be sent me, I would also be able to watch over every new movement bearing upon the Interests of the Colony, and at the same time be able to supply that information respecting the advantages and capabilities of the Colony which I have thus practically obtained by having made myself personally acquainted with them...

The Hon. Mr Stafford, from the Committee appointed to enquire and report as to the expediency of establishing a General Colonial Agency for the Colony, brought up a report which was read as followeth:- The Select Committee of the House of Representatives appointed to enquire and report as to the expediency of establishing a General Colonial Agency for the Colony, have considered the papers laid on the table of the House, marked Nos. 19, 46, 74 and 75, and have examined Mr John Morrison, who had offered to act as Agent for the Colony in London, and have agreed to the following resolutions:- That it is desirable to establish a General Agency for New Zealand. That the Agent should, with the knowledge and consent of the General Government, execute commissions for Provincial Governments, but that he should not be allowed to enter into separate and independent relations with any particular Province, nor to receive separate remuneration from any such Province, for any purpose whatever. That it appears to the Committee that the most eligible position for the Office of such an Agency would be King William Street, City, or Adelphi Terrace. That such Office should contain, in addition to such accommodation as may be required for the Agent and Clerks, a convenient and spacious apartment for the exhibition of maps and official documents, and for the accommodation of persons visiting the rooms. That the salary of such Agent for the first year, and until further experience of the working of the Agency has been acquired, ought not to exceed £300 per annum. That in addition to the above, such reasonable sum should be allowed for the Office expenses, as the Executive Government may deem advisable.

Letter by John Morrison of 173 Fenchurch Street, London dated 11 Feb 1859 to the Superintendent Wellington. Sir, I beg to intimate to you that since my return to England I have commenced to act in London as a Colonial Agent for New Zealand, and would most respectfully offer my services to the Provincial Government of Wellington. I venture to ground my application on the practical knowledge I have gained by my late Tour through that Province, as well as from my undivided attention being given to New Zealand. I have to acknowledge having received the Tracings you were pleased to direct to be made and sent me; These have been mounted and, as well as the Gazettes and Documents which are occasionally forwarded to me, are at the service of the Public. I am most anxious to obtain these regularly, as also all Government Documents containing matters of importance to intending Colonists. I have the honor to be, Sir Your Honor's most obedient Servant, John Morrison.

Sir, I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of your letters of the dates quoted in the margin [1859/13]. The "Mariner" arrived here on the 23rd ultimo & the passengers were landed on the 25th. The voyage appears to have been a very satisfactory one and the passengers have expressed themselves perfectly satisfied with the treatment they received on board. The subject of gratuity to the Captain & Surgeon of the Mariner will be brought before the Commissioners at their next meeting when I have no doubt it will be awarded to them. The balance of the passage money £387.9.0 has been paid in accordance with your request to Messrs Nicholson & Ridings.

Written 2 Jul 1859. Sir, With reference to your letter of the 1st Dec last wherein you offer to act as Emigration Agent for this Province at a salary of two hundred & fifty pounds per annum I am directed by the Commissioners of Immigration to inform you that under the present limited scheme carried on by the Commissioners they do not consider the appointment of an Agent in England necessary the Contractor for the conveyance of the Emigrants being bound by his contract to perform the duties of Agent, which under the supervision of Mr Tytler the Commissioners have every reason to believe will be efficiently carried out. The Commissioners are aware that they could get Immigrants brought out at a less sum than they are now paying but they do not feel bound, or at all disposed, to accept the lowest tender for a service of this kind, merely because it is the lowest, but wish to secure for the Emigrants a comfortable passage at a reasonable rate which judging from the manner in which the "Mariner" Passengers were brought out, they consider they have secured in... accepting the tender of Morrison. The Commissioners regret therefore that your Offer cannot be accepted.

The Commissioners consider that such a personal inspection by yourself (in company with the Emigration Officer) of the ship when ready to leave Gravesend will constitute the most efficient supervision that could be obtained & be as satisfactory to the public & the relatives of the Emigrants as to themselves. They accordingly trust that you will without any great inconvenience to yourself be able to continue the same & they have much pleasure in agreeing to the terms of payment you mention viz ten guineas for each inspection besides travelling & personal expenses. I have now the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 11th April last & to return you the thanks of the Commrs for the same.

Historical Southland by F. G. Hall-Jones - The Province (The Menzies Period) p139 - Regarding Dr Menzies address 13 Aug 1861.

The address combined an optimistic confidence in the future of Southland with practical considerations for its achievement. Population was the first necessity, and direct immigration to the Bluff was to be set in hand. The services of John Morrison as Immigration Officer were secured, and the first immigrant ship, the Robert Henderson, arrived in September, 1862. In 1862-63 2795 settlers arrived from overseas, and nearly as many from other parts of New Zealand. The Southland population grew from 1820 in December 1861 to 3455 in 1862 and 9545 in 1863. Since Southland lacked the attraction of Otago's goldfields, this was a gratifying increase, which, with Otago's long standing hostility towards Bluff immigration, could not have been achieved without separation.

Sir, I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of 8th May last, in reply to one which had been addressed to you by Mr Hall as chairman of a Meeting of Colonists, requesting the opinion of your Government as to the desirability of raising a subscription in England for the relief of the Settlers of Taranaki and for such particulars, as to the losses resulting from the War, as would enable the facts of the case being laid before the British Public. In reply, I have to state that the letter was read to the Colonists at their last Monthly Meeting, and I can assure you, that they truly sympathised in the misfortunes of their fellow Colonists at Taranaki, which you so fully described. At present, as you are already aware, no steps have been taken to raise a subscription in England, the matter is held in suspense. Should the original intention and wish of the Colonists be carried out, I shall have pleasure in advising you of it. I beg that you will have the goodness to favor me, at your convenience, with any further information on the subject, which in your opinion is of importance to be known, and assuring you of my desire to aid in every possible manner the interests of your Province.

Superintendent's Office, Southland to John Morrison Esq., London 30 Sep 1861. Sir, I have the honor to enclose a list of instruments necessary for the Survey Department, together with the first of exchange in your favor for £150 second to follow next mail. You will be kind enough to procure the instruments named in the list from either Troughton & Sims, or Elliott, and when shipped advise me of the same, enclosing at same time duplicate Bill of Lading. I may add that it will be necessary to have the instruments fully insured. The sum of £100 only was voted for the supply of survey instruments, at the last sitting of the Provincial Council, and £50 for expenses incidental to establishing the Emigration Agencies at home. The above sums however are placed at your disposal for the purchase of the instruments, together with the charges incidental to their shipment &c, I have the honor to be Sir Your obedient servant, J.... Menzies, Superintendent.

Superintendent's Office, Southland to John Morrison Esq., London 17 Dec 1861. Sir, I have the honor to request that you will proceed to lay on a vessel of sufficient capacity to carry about two hundred passengers to sail from the Clyde about May, for New River (where... she arrives... a powerful steam tug will have been established) or if she will not come into the New River, then to the Bluff. It has been determined that the immigrants shall be shipped as far as practicable in the following proportions, viz: 1st Four-tenths to be persons, whose friends here, guarantee their passage money. 2nd Three-tenths of those who pay half the passage money, in Britain, and give a Promissary for the remainder here. 3rd Three tenths of those who pay their own passage money and are consequently free immigrants. Of the second class, passages should be given only to families, as far as possible, of whom large families consisting chiefly, or largely, of females will have a preference; and females of good character. The Surgeon and Matron must be selected with caution; firmness and good character, being indispensable in both cases; to protect the female passengers from the demoralizing influences incident to an immigrant ship. I have to request also that due notice of the intended... departure of the vessel shall be published in several newspapers in Glasgow, Edinburgh, and Perth, together with the accomodation... &c &c. About nine hundred and fifty pounds will be sent by mail in case you may not find ... willing to accept payment of on the arrival of the vessel here; those who are willing to do so, other things being equal, will of course receive a preference. It is necessary that all Promissory Notes granted by immigrants should be made payable within twelve months after the arrival here of the vessel to N. Chalmers, Esq., Provincial Treasurer at the Bank of New South Wales... I enclose original certificates, duplicate copies, which will be presented to you or your agents by intending immigrants, for sundry Emigrants whose friends here have guaranteed their passage money one being a second... passage; and as a precautionary measure, a detailed record of all certificates granted will be forwarded to you by... mail succeeding that by which original certificates have been sent you. I have the honor to be J... Menzies, Superintendent.

3 Adelaide Place, King William Street. Sir, I have the honor to acquaint you that I have shipped by the "Triton" Captain Baunbeck for Wellington two cases containing 3 Red Deer (1 Stag and 2 Hinds) and to request you will have the goodness to direct some one on arrival of the vessel to take charge of and retain the animals until instructions are received from the Honble the Colonial Secretary respecting their disposal. The Deer are the gift of His late Royal Highness the Prince Consort who was pleased, on my application, not only to present several to the Colony, but instructed that all should be carefully prepared for the voyage. In distributing the animals to different parts I have been anxious to forward some of the Red Deer to Wellington believing the district to be well adapted for them, and I trust in time the province will benefit by their importation. An abundant supply of Provender has been put on board for the animals during the voyage, and I beg to enclose to your Honor the letter which Capt Baunbeck has addressed to me agreeing to deliver them, and to land any surplus food on arrival at Wellington. I have endorsed on the back of it an authority to deliver all to your order, I have the honor to be, Sir, Your very obedient servant, John Morrison.

Superintendent's Office, Southland to John Morrison Esq., London 12 Sep 1862. Sir, I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of your communications per Overland mail, being duplicates of similar communications forwarded to Robert Henderson, which vessel duly arrived on the 4th inst after a rapid and satisfactory passage. The emigrants were landed with a clean Bill of Health & no deaths whatever occurred on the voyage. Your letter of 26th May informed me that you had made arrangements for granting 100 assisted passages from Scotland in addition to the nominated emigrants. Yours of 7 June enclosed Bill of Lading Survey Instruments which are duly to hand and in good order an additional quantity of some articles being necessary I enclose list which I trust will receive your prompt attention. That of 12th June contains notice of prompt embarkation of Immigrants on day advertised such energy is highly commendable, and I trust that similar punctuality may be always observed, the remarks on certain certificates are duly noted. That of 26 June acknowledges receipt of Bill of Exchange for £48 15s for Birds & Game. Another same date encloses correspondence relative to the disposal of the vote of money for introduction of salmon. The action taken by you in the matter is perfectly correct and I trust that you will pay over the money only on good evidence of its employment for the purpose originally proposed. Another letter of same date encloses statements No. 1,2,3... a/c No.4 being order on Provincial Government for payment of moiety passage money has been promptly honored. The other statements shall be duly taken to account. The addresses of emigrants have always been given in full as far as possible a difficulty existing at times especially with those whose friends are in Ireland but every are shall be taken in future to avoid, if practicable, any difficulties arising in the matter. I trust shortly to hear of arrangements in progress for the dispatch of a vessel from London with emigrants, those already landed, meet with ready engagement female servants being especially in demand, and scarce on behalf of the Government I have to thank you for the promptitude displayed in these matters and to assure you that it continues to place the highest confidence in your dispositions with regard to the Provincial Immigration. I have the honor to be Sir, Your obedient servant... Deputy Superintendent. Margin: 1st & 2nd Emigrants Bills duly received.

Superintendent's Office, Southland to John Morrison Esq., Adelaide Place, London 9 Oct 1862. Sir, On looking over your recent correspondence with this Office it occurs to me, that on one or two points therein referred to some further explanatory remarks may be made – but first of all I may again express to you, the entire satisfaction of this Government with the arrangements you made with Messrs Henderson & Co., and its opinion that the liberal conduct of that firm in getting the 'Robert Henderson' deserves consideration hereafter where arranging for the dispatch of future immigrant vessels – on arriving here, the passengers seemed to be highly satisfied with their treatment during the voyage – not one complaint was made. 2nd The Instructions as to transfer of Certificates (17 July) omitted to specify that, although as a general rule such transfer would not be permitted, yet, that you were to have a discretionary power to permit such a transfer in any case in which you might consider it proper to do so. 3rd. Those instructions also authorised you to give free passages to young single females of good character, but for the present the number of free passages so given shall not exceed twenty in any one Vessel. 4th. In all cases Teachers coming to Southland shall have second cabin passages provided for them – 5 copies of all the Ordinances passed by the Provincial Council are always regularly sent in... the Provincial Gazettes in triplicate – the 'Southland News' will henceforward be sent in duplicate. 6 The Land Regulations of Otago are those in operation here – a copy is enclosed which can be republished. 7 A Tracing of a Map of the Province will be sent by next Mail to be lithographed and published on ... of the Provincial Government. I have the honor to be Sir, Your obedient servant, J... Menzies, Superintendent

Glasgow Herald 25 Jan 1864 Emigration from the Clyde for New Zealand

The ship Paria, in connection with Messrs Patrick Henderson & Co.'s line of packets, left Glasgow on Thursday for the Tail of the Bank (where she was cleared on Saturday by the emigration officers), with a full compliment of passengers and a large cargo for Southland and Otago, New Zealand. This ship carries out the passengers from the wrecked ship Grasmere; and before leaving they presented to Messrs Henderson & Co., and to Mr Morrison, the agent for the Government of Southland, the following addresses:-

To Messrs Patrick Henderson & Co. – We the undersigned, passengers by the late ship Grasmere, wrecked on a voyage from Glasgow to Southland, New Zealand, before leaving for our destination by the ship Paria, provided by you for our conveyance, beg to express our feeling of gratitude to you for the kindness and attention shown us in our position by the unfortunate loss of the Grasmere, and for the liberality you have displayed in allowing us the sum of fifteen shillings per week per adult of sustenance money, instead of ten shillings and sixpence, as required by law, and in generously contributing the sum of five hundred pounds towards enabling us to replace what articles belonging to us were lost by the wreck of the ship.

To John Morrison Esq. – Before leaving for Southland by the Paria we take the opportunity of conveying our grateful thanks for the kindness shown to us by you, in personally looking after our welfare in the position we were placed by the wreck of the Grasmere, and particularly in obtaining the sum of £200 for our benefit, by subscriptions, by yourself and from your friends.

We take the opportunity, also, of expressing our gratitude to your representative here, Mr Armour, for his great attention to us.

Halifax Town Council 31 Mar 1864

Yesterday afternoon, a meeting of the Halifax Council was held, the Mayor, Major Holdsworth, presiding... Mr John Morrison, New Zealand Government agent in London, called the attention of the manufacturers, &c., of Halifax, to the proposed New Zealand Industrial Exhibition in 1865.

The Belfast News-letter 11 May 1864 The New Zealand Exhibition 1865

The Linen Trade Committee desire to call attention of flax spinners, manufacturers, bleachers, &c., to the following communication from John Morrison Esq., New Zealand Government Agent, London, who will, on application, furnish all needful information to parties purposing to forward specimens for exhibition:-

Office of the New Zealand Government Agency, 3, Adelaide Place, King William Street, London, E.C., 28th April 1864

“Sir, The Commissioners for the New Zealand Exhibition for 1865 are extremely anxious that the Irish linen trade should be represented there, as the cultivation of flax is now occupying some attention there and in the adjoining Australian colonies. I am induced, therefore, to ask whether you would kindly have the matter brought before the Chamber, so that it may come under the notice of manufacturers, some of whom may be disposed to send an assortment which shall prove a creditable representation of Irish industry and prices. I have the honor to be, your very obedient servant, John Morrison. The President of the Linen Trade Committee, Belfast

The Commissioners have fixed upon the first Tuesday in January 1865 for opening the Exhibition. The Exhibition building, with such annexes as may be necessary, will be erected in the city of Dunedin, Province of Otago, on the Government Reserve, Block XXIII, Great King Street. The principal building will be of brick and cement. The decision whether goods proposed to be exhibited are admissible or not must in each case eventually rest with the commissioners. No rent will be charged to exhibitors.

Office of the NZ Emigration Board, 3, Adelaide-place, London Bridge, London, E.C., 26 Sep 1864

Sir, We have the honor to enclose you herewith copy of correspondence we have had with Mr McElroy, of Manchester, on the subject of a special settlement in the Province of Auckland. A block of land set apart in the Waikato district, would, we imagine, be accepted. We beg you will give the proposal favourable consideration; and if acceded to under certain conditions, please instruct us on the subject. Wm. S. Grahame, John Morrison.

Sir, I do myself the honor to transmit herewith copy of a letter, which the Rev. Andrew Burn Suter, Bishop designate of Nelson, has addressed to me, upon the subject of emigration to Nelson. I beg you will have the goodness to lay the same before the Commissioners, and inform me, by return mail, whether they consider it advisable to avail themselves of the proposal made by the reverend gentleman; and if so, upon what conditions, and to what extent passages are due to be granted. Nelson Provincial Council Proceedings: Copy of Correspondence Relative to the Introduction of Immigrants by Bishop Suter

Bishop Suter to J. Morrison Esq. All Saints, Spicer-street, July 24th, 1866

Dear Sir, I beg to thank you for informing me of the willingness of the Nelson Government to avail themselves of my offer to take out some suitable emigrants. I am not in a position to give any answer at all as to my plans - it is possible that I may be delayed in this country till another Session of Parliament. It is on the other hand possible that I should go at an earlier period. I have done nothing yet to obtain suitable persons on account of the uncertainty, and also because I preferred to wait till I knew how the offer would be received.

I may add, however, that I expect always to be able to give you such information in advance as to my prospects of going, that there will be ample time to communicate with the emigration officers in Nelson, before I am in a position to speak to you as to numbers, &c. At the same time you will kindly remember that my offer was not a decided one but conditional, and it might so happen that it would be desirable for me to go by the new route more speedily, in which case, of course, I could not take emigrants, but I do not expect it will be so. Yours, &c., A. Suter, Bishop designate, Nelson, N.Z.

Nelson Provincial Council Proceedings: Copy of Correspondence Relative to the Introduction of Immigrants by Bishop Suter
Immigration Secretary, Nelson to J. Morrison Esq., London, 13th October 1866. Sir, I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 24th July last, enclosing a letter from the Bishop designate of Nelson, relative to the introduction of immigrants to this province. In reply, I am directed by the Immigration Commissioners to inform you, that it was only on the understanding that the immigrants should be accompanied by, and be under the charge and control of, the Bishop and his Lady, that the Commissioners agreed to the Rev. gentleman's proposal, and they cannot, therefore, consent to the arrangement suggested in your letter, viz. : that if the Bishop travels by the Panama line, any immigrants he may select should be forwarded in the ordinary way. I have, &c., Alfred Greenfield, Immigration Secretary.

Nelson Provincial Council Proceedings: Copy of Correspondence Relative to the Introduction of Immigrants by Bishop Suter
Bishop Suter to J. Morrison Esq. All Saint's Parsonage, October 30, 1866. Dear Sir, In regard to the proposition of my superintending the selection and passage of emigrants to Nelson, New Zealand, I write to say that I am very glad that the Government of Nelson have so cordially taken up the scheme, and I hope it may be carried out for the advantage of the colony. My own wishes and convenience would have taken me by the new Panama route, but as I consider the addition of such emigrants as I shall endeavour to induce to come will be of permanent benefit to the colony, I gladly underdake the responsibility which will then fall upon me. As far as I see at present, my arrangements will not allow me to leave before the second week in April, 1867, by which time I hope, unless anything unforeseen occurs, to have the full number of 50 young women for domestic service, and 25 young couples, artizans and agricultural labourers. This will bring us to Nelson about July or August, 1867, so that there will still be time for them to make arrangements. I should, however, like clearly to understand from you, that I should not be in any way responsible for the support of the emigrants on landing in Nelson, and that they would have lodging and board for a certain time, at least, after arrival. Perhaps you will be so good as to convey this intelligence to the Government authorities. I am, &c., A. B. Nelson [sic]

J. Morrison Esq., to the Immigration Secretary London 30th October, 1866. Sir, For the information of the Immigration Commissioners, I do myself the honor to acquaint you that at an interview which I had yesterday with the Bishop of Nelson, his Lordship gave me to understand that he expected to leave England for Nelson about the middle of April next, and that it was his intention to proceed by sailing ship via the Cape. It also affords me much satisfaction to report to you, that his Lordship speaks most confidently about the emigration scheme, and that so far as an opinion can be at present formed, he will have no difficulty in procuring the full number of emigrants sanctioned by the Commissioners. I have, &c., John Morrison P.S. I beg to enclose copy of a letter just received from the Bishop, and would crave the attention of Government to it.

Birmingham Daily Post 2 Nov 1866 New Zealand

The London agent of the New Zealand Government (Mr John Morrison) has received the following telegram from the Secretary to the Colonial Government:- "Galle, October 19. The New Zealand Legislature is still in session. Mr Stafford has reconstructed the Ministry. The stamp duties were carried by a large majority. The yield of gold and the revenue are increasing. Country tranquil. The 14th, 50th and 57th regiments are leaving. The Governor is going on a tour into the interior.

Nelson Provincial Council Proceedings: Copy of Correspondence Relative to the Introduction of Immigrants by Bishop Suter

Extract from Letter from the Immigration Secretary, Nelson to J. Morrison, Esq., London 5th January 1867. Sir, The Commissioners are pleased to hear that Bishop Suter will in all probability be able to bring out the number of immigrants sanctioned by the Commissioners. Female servants are very much wanted in this province, and a few agricultural laborers, will, I have no doubt, do well here. You can assure his Lordship that he will be relieved of all responsibility, the moment the ship arrives at this port. I purpose asking a Committee of Ladies to make arrangements for the reception of the females, to avoid putting them in any Depot, which I consider very objectionable. I think arrangements can be made, so that each girl can be placed in a private house immediately on landing. With regard to married couples, should they be unable to obtain immediate employment, Government must endeavour to find them work, or supply them with provisions, &c., for a time, but with a view to their immediate employment. I have to request that you will at the earliest opportunity after the selection has been made by the Bishop, forward to me a list of the names, ages and calling of those selected. A. Greenfield, Immigration Secretary.

Daily News 21 Feb 1867 Telegram from New Zealand

The following telegram is from the Colonial Secretary to Mr John Morrison, agent of the New Zealand government:- "Wellington Jan 17, (via Galle, Feb 17). Peace prevails throughout New Zealand. The governor's journey through the centre of the native country, from Tauranga to Wanganui, via Lake Taupo, was everywhere loyally received. The governor, writing from Taupo to the superintendent of Auckland states 'The whole country from Tauranga and Orakee(?) on the Waikato is in a most satisfactory state. The natives show greater desire to have Europeans among them, and to follow our customs. Many natives are anxious to let their lands for sheep runs.'

Via Panama, Office of The NZ Government Agency, 3, Adelaide Place, King William Street, London. Sir, I do myself the honor to inform you of my intention to visit New Zealand, have been granted a leave of absence from the duties of this office by the General Government, for which I applied, to enable me to become personally acquainted with the material progress the Colony has made since I last visited it. I purpose leaving by the Steamer on the 2nd of November next via Panama and I shall take the earliest opportunity after my arrival at Wellington to visit Southland and to wait upon your Honor. In announcing this arrangement it affords me satisfaction also to state that during my absence from London, which will not exceed eight months - I have made efficient provision by which the duties of this office will be carried on as heretofore. Whatever services your Government may require carried out will therefore continue to be attended to. I have the honor to be, Sir Your most obedt Servant John Morrison.

The New Zealand Examiner 1 Jan 1868 Letter written by John Morrison on 6 Dec 1867

Office of the NZ Government Agency, 3 Adelaide place, King William street. Sir, I beg to inform you that I have by this mail received information from the Government of New Zealand to the effect that two acts, the "Public Debts Act, 1867" and the "Consolidated Loan Act, 1867" have been passed by both Houses of the Legislature. The object of these acts is the conversion and consolidation of the provincial loans into one loan, to be called 'The New Zealand Consolidation Loan', and all moneys borrowed thereunder are to form a charge upon the consolidated revenue of the colony of New Zealand. From the date of the passing of these acts, no act or ordinance which may be passed by any Provincial Council of any province in New Zealand for raising any provincial loan, or for the guarantee of the payment of any interest or subsidy, will be valid. I am, Sir, your obedient servant, John Morrison Per pro Alexander Morrison, Joseph Sawyer.

Evening Post 7 Jan 1868 The Tramway

At eight o'clock yesterday a meeting of the Provisional Committee of the proposed Wairarapa Grand Trunk Railway and Tramway was held at Osgood's Empire Hotel, J. Coutts Crawford, R.M., in the chair... Mr O'Neill then read a long report, the perusal of which occupied an hour and a quarter. It contained estimates of the traffic to and fro from town and the Wairarapa, pointed out the line through which the proposed railway would be cut, and concluded by a sketch of Mr O'Neill's recent tour through the Rimutaka Ranges... Mr J. H. Wallace suggested that Mr Morrison, the Government Agent, now in Wellington, should be asked to act on the Provisional Committee.

Taranaki Herald 11 Jan 1868 Narrow escape of Mr and Mrs Fox.

Mr and Mrs W. Fox and Mr W. Morrison, the London agent of the General Government arrived by the Kaikoura. While at the Island of St. Thomas, all three had narrow escapes of losing their lives. They were putting off to the steamer La Plata, when a vast tidal wave, caused by one of the shocks of earthquake which were then devastating the island, was seen coming in from the sea. The negro boatmen at once turned the boat's head to the nearest land, but before it could be reached the wave overtook them, overwhelmed the boat, which it turned over upon the passengers, who were, almost immediately after brought to the surface of the water by the reflux of the wave, and were finally washed ashore. We believe it is Mr Fox's intention to remain in town for about ten days, and then proceed to Rangitikei. Mr Morrison's visit is partly on public, partly on private grounds.

The Kaikoura performed the return passage from Panama to Wellington in an equally satisfactory manner, the time occupied in traversing 6,600 knots being only 27 and a half days including a stoppage of 19 hours at the Island of Opara, for coaling. The expectations formed as to the value of that island for a coaling station have been fully realised, and the Company's arrangements there are now complete. The passengers arriving in New Zealand by the Kaikoura, expressed themselves much pleased with the voyage and the accommodation provided, &c. Amongst the passengers were - The Earl of Pembroke, with his physician, Dr Street, Sir Robert Douglas, Mr William Fox and lady, and Mr Morrison, agent of the New Zealand Government.

DOCUMENT: John Morrison delivers Scottish Highland Chief costume for Maori Chief Hunia

Australian and New Zealand Gazette p151 (7 Mar 1868) Nelson

Mr J. Morrison, so well known as the agent for the Government of New Zealand and several of the provinces, has paid the colony a second visit. Mr Morrison's visit has a special interest for Nelson, since his Honor the Superintendent has told us he trusts to be able, by Mr Morrison's agency, to bring our proposed railway under the notice of British capitalists, and, let us add, our long-talked-of dock or slip.

Nelson Evening Mail 2 Jun 1868

The Wellington Independent has the following: It has been stated that Mr John Morrison, of London (the agent for the Colony and for Wellington and Nelson Provinces) had been paid a commission 'in the face of a resolution of the Council declaring that the commission should not be paid.' This is not exactly correct. The Provincial Treasurer has, we hear - while the Superintendent was away - paid the said gentleman a sum to the tune of about 1160 pounds; but this sum was on the estimates; only it was by some understood that before any payment on this head was made, the matter was to be referred to the Provincial Council for revisal, many persons thinking that Mr Morrison should not be paid a commission on the cost of erecting the wharf (which he had nothing to do with) as well as a commission on the cost of materials delivered in London. Besides it was only reasonable that he should not be paid a commission on the slip until the present settlement is completed by an act which has to be passed by the Provincial Council at its next sitting. It is a very large sum that has been paid for a few days negotiating for a slip and a wharf; besides it is well known that all the hard and practical work of inspecting the material in the country and seeing it shipped in London, fell to the share of Mr C. R. Carter, who, as yet, has received no payment. It must be a profitable thing - in these hard times - to be agent for so many governments - to receive so many commissions, and to get leave of absence into the bargain to procure more.

Nelson Evening Mail 3 Jun 1868

Mr Mackay in a lengthy and able speech warmly advocated the same views and ended by proposing the following resolution:- 'That this meeting consider it expedient that his Honor the Superintendent should take the opportunity of engaging the services of Mr H. Wrigg, C.E. to proceed with Mr J. Morrison to London with the intention of forming a Joint Stock Company for the purpose of constructing a railway from Nelson to the West Coast. In which case it is presumed that Mr Morrison would confine himself entirely to the monetary arrangements of the business, and that Mr Wrigg would be at liberty to devote his time to giving all the requisite information in his particular department which the promoters of the undertaking may require.'

Nelson Evening Mail 5 Jun 1868

The Provincial Secretary submitted that it could not be shown that the Government had lost any time in the matter. The Superintendent had pointed out in his address to the Council in 1867 that it would be necessary to wait until Mr Balfour's report had been received, and the Council had unanimously agreed that no action should be taken on the harbor improvements pending the receipt of that report. The bill was not assented to until November 1867, and the report was not received until last April. Mr Morrison, the London agent of the province, was then in the colony, and the Government were waiting to consult him on the matter. They had, however now, altered their views, and proposed a scheme more likely to secure the construction of the dock without further delay.

Nelson Examiner and New Zealand Chronicle 18 Jun 1868 Provincial Council

Tuesday, July 16. Absent: Messrs Redwood, Beitt, White and C. Kelling. Nelson and West Coast Railway. The Provincial Secretary said, that before proceeding with the business of the day he wished to inform the Council that Mr John Morrison had changed his plans, and purposed leaving Nelson for Wellington on the following morning, at five o'clock. If, therefore, the Railway Committee, or other members of the Council, wished to see Mr Morrison on the subject of the railway before he took his departure, he would be willing to give his attendance any hour that evening...

Nelson Examiner and New Zealand Chronicle 23 Jun 1868 Mr John Morrison

To the Editor of the 'Nelson Examiner'. Sir – The members of Council, and indeed the whole community, must be pleased to find that at last a subject did come before the Council upon which the honourable member for Waimea-east, Mr Beitt, could speak, although only to prove that his silence is more valuable than his eloquence. However, as the honourable member seems himself to be rather in doubt as to who Mr Morrison is, I may be excused for informing him that that gentleman has for the past ten years been connected with the colony, both as Colonial Agent and agent for various provinces, as as such is, I apprehend, a man of greater note in London, than the honourable member is in the Nelson Provincial Council. As to Mr Morrison's antecedents, having known him previous to his becoming connected with the colony, I may state that he is not a "retired draper," but, what is more to the purpose, a gentleman of considerable experience and influence in negotiating monetary matters in London. I am, &c., J.C. – Nelson, June 22, 1868.

The Rev. P. Barclay to Dr Featherston - Report of Emigration Work during the last six months. The interest in emigration [at Plockton, Rosshire] there had been excited by the fact that, in June 1871, a considerable number of persons had left for New Zealand at the instigation of Mr Morrison and myself, and by the kind assistance of Mr Matheson [of Dun Craig and MP of Ardross, Rosshire]. Some of these had written home charming accounts of the climate, soil &c of New Zealand, and had spoken of the high rate of wages, which, in some instances, to these poor West Coast Islanders, seemed quite fabulous.

Vogel to John Morrison written 10 Jul 1871 New York Dear Sir, The shortness of my stay in London, after the contract with Messrs Brogden was signed, did not permit me time to write to thank you for the cordial assistance you rendered me throughout the protracted negotiations with those gentlemen. I now, therefore, take the opportunity of conveying to you my thanks for that assistance, as also for the readiness with which you lent me your valuable services for other purposes during my stay in London.

Appendices to the Journal of the House of Representatives [AJHR] 1871 Section A6 Papers relating to Mr Vogel's mission to England

Report dated 27 Aug 1871 Railways: ... At New York, I [Vogel] received a telegram from Mr Alexander Brogden, MP, stating that he would leave England for New Zealand on 23rd August, and asking that the decision between the agreements should be deferred until after his arrival in the Colony. On receipt of that telegram, I telegraphed to Mr John Morrison, authorizing him to inform Messrs Brogden that, although I was not able to say that the decision would be delayed, I felt sure that the desire of the Government would be to show to the Contractors every consideration consistent with the interests of the Colony. In order that the Government might not be prejudiced if they delayed their decision, I asked Mr Morrison to consult Mr Mackrell, and to get him to procure from Messrs Brogden such an undertaking as would, in the event of the Government consenting to await Mr A. Brogden's arrival, secure that the rights of the Government under the agreements should not be in any way prejudiced or jeopardized... I have the honour to state that throughout the progress of the negotiations with Messrs Brogden, Mr John Morrison, Agent in London for the Government, rendered me most cordial and zealous assistance, and that I have written to him thanking him for the same.

Letter from Hon. J. Vogel from San Francisco, California to Mr J. Morrison 20 July 1871

Mr Dear Mr Morrison, Many thanks for your letter of June 29th, and for the copy of advertisements enclosed in it. I have received safely the letter from Mr Mackrell, and its enclosures. In reply to your question, whether you are at liberty to use the explanation I gave you orally as to the reason why I referred Mr Brogden to Mr Ottywell instead of to yourself, I have to say that you are fully at liberty to use that explanation. I may add, that it was only in the hurry of the moment it occurred to me to employ Mr Ottywell, and that if I had had time to think over the matter, I should have certainly have referred Mr Brogden to you, leaving it to you to make arrangements with Mr Ottywell. I have, further, explicitly to assure you that it was only in consequence of my having been brought into contact with Mr Ottywell in respect to Canterbury matters, for similar purposes, that the idea of employing him upon the occasion in question occurred to me. Nothing was further from my mind than the idea of putting any slight upon yourself. Indeed, I had reason to be very much obliged to you for the great zeal you showed throughout the negotiations with Messrs Brogden.

I may also mention that I have transferred to him, for the service of the Government, all the Provincial Gazettes, Ordinances and other Papers which I had privately collected during the tenure of my late office.

Mr Seaton, in a letter addressed to Mr Morrison, and forwarded to me here, dated Portree 16th May says "There seems to be good ground for the report I wrote you of, that smallpox is very prevalent in Storway, and said to be of a very bad type."

- The First Agent-General Dr Isaac Earl Featherston 1871-1876

... Vogel the turned his attention to the task of entering into a contract with John Brogden and Sons for the construction of railways in New Zealand. An interesting condition of this contract was that Brogden's undertook to land not less than 10,000 immigrants in the colony within the next 10 years. In his subsequent Report on his Mission to England, Vogel paid tribute to the "cordial and zealous assistance" he had received from John Morrison in connection with the railway contract. John Morrison who was paid compensation for the abolition of his office of Colonial Agent, agreed to serve the Agent-General in a temporary capacity, and finally resigned in March, 1873.

Agent-General to Colonial Secretary 17 Apr 1873. Sir, In forwarding the enclosed letter from Mr John Morrison, it is unnecessary for me to do more than to confirm his statement that during the period he has been in my office he has not been in the capacity of a Despatching Officer. I. E. Featherston.

J. Morrison, 7, Westminster Chambers, Victoria Street, Westminster SW 10 Feb 1873. Dear Doctor Featherston, When you assumed the duties of Agent-General, at your special request I consented to assist you, but in undertaking to do this you may remember that I declined accepting the appointment that the Government of Mr Fox authorized you to offer me, and further that this assistance was to be only of a temporary nature. I am reluctant to do anything at the present time that may cause you inconvenience; but as I intended withdrawing from the office at the end of the past year, and only withheld carrying out this intention owing to your serious illness, you will not, I trust, object to my now doing so. I am especially anxious now to retire, because I have it upon good authority that the Memorandum of the Public Works Department No. 124, October 1872, directing you to appoint a Despatching Officer, although not directly alluding to myself, is sent expressly to terminate my connection with your office. It is not my intention to offer any remarks in regard to the course adopted by the present Government; but in replying to the Memorandum in question, I beg that you will cancel their misconception in supposing that I held the appointment of Despatching Officer, or that I regulated the shipping arrangements of the emigrant ships. I have only, in conclusion, to express my gratification at the cordial relations which have existed between us during our official connection, and to assure you that if at any time I can be of any assistance to you in the discharge of your duties, you may command my services. Yours faithfully, John Morrison.

AJHR 1873 Section D2 p36 No. 35 Extracts from a Telegram from Featherston to the Colonial Secretary dated 25 April 1873.

"Not true that I have ever delegated to any person, or that illness has prevented me discharging, my duties for single day since my arrival. Morrison left. Emigration agents sent home costly, useless.
